The Re3 Model: a patented circular system, engineered to take-back and track the used clothes of its customers

Waste less. Recycle more.

Here at SEAY sustainability is a serious thing being part of who we are - it's our way of life. We not only produce fashion pieces using recycled materials but we also invented the Re3 Model.

Re3 is a circular economy model engineered by SEAY to reduce the environmental impact of the used garments. If you have an old garment you won't use any longer and you don't want to throw it away you can return it to us getting a 20% green bonus on your purchase.

Based on the aesthetic and functional conditions of the garments received they will be:

Re-Sold as vintage after being sanitized and reconditioned through the cooperativa in charge of the Re3 operations.

The turnover generated from the sale remain to the cooperativa to cover the costs of the operations.

Re-Used after being sanitized. The cooperativa in charge of the Re3 operations will donate the garments still wearable to people in need.

Re-Generated if the look is poor and the garments can't be worn any longer, they will be sent to a plant able to turn the old fabric into regenerated yarn used to produce new fabrics.
